A Word Of Thanks —

We, the staff of the Cloverleaf and members of the journalism class, would like to express our appreciation and gratitude to several people who have helped greatly in making this yearbook possible.

We thank

Margarete G. Smith, Cloverport historian, who graciously provided us with many of the pictures from Cloverport's past and who gave valuable aid in preparing most of the historical references in the book;

Harold Mattingly and Don Alexander of the staff of the Breckinridge County Herald-News who provided many of the photographs dealing with sports activities and certain other events during the year;

Thomas Trent of Trent Studio who donated much time and effort in preparing some of the organizational and individual photographs;

Donn Wimmer of The Hancock Clarion who spent much time in reproducing the pictures that were provided by Mrs. Smith.

To each of these and to the many businesses who have advertized in this book we say, "Thank you." We hope that as you look through this annual you will note the services that our sponsors have to offer.

100 Years

Cloverport Independent

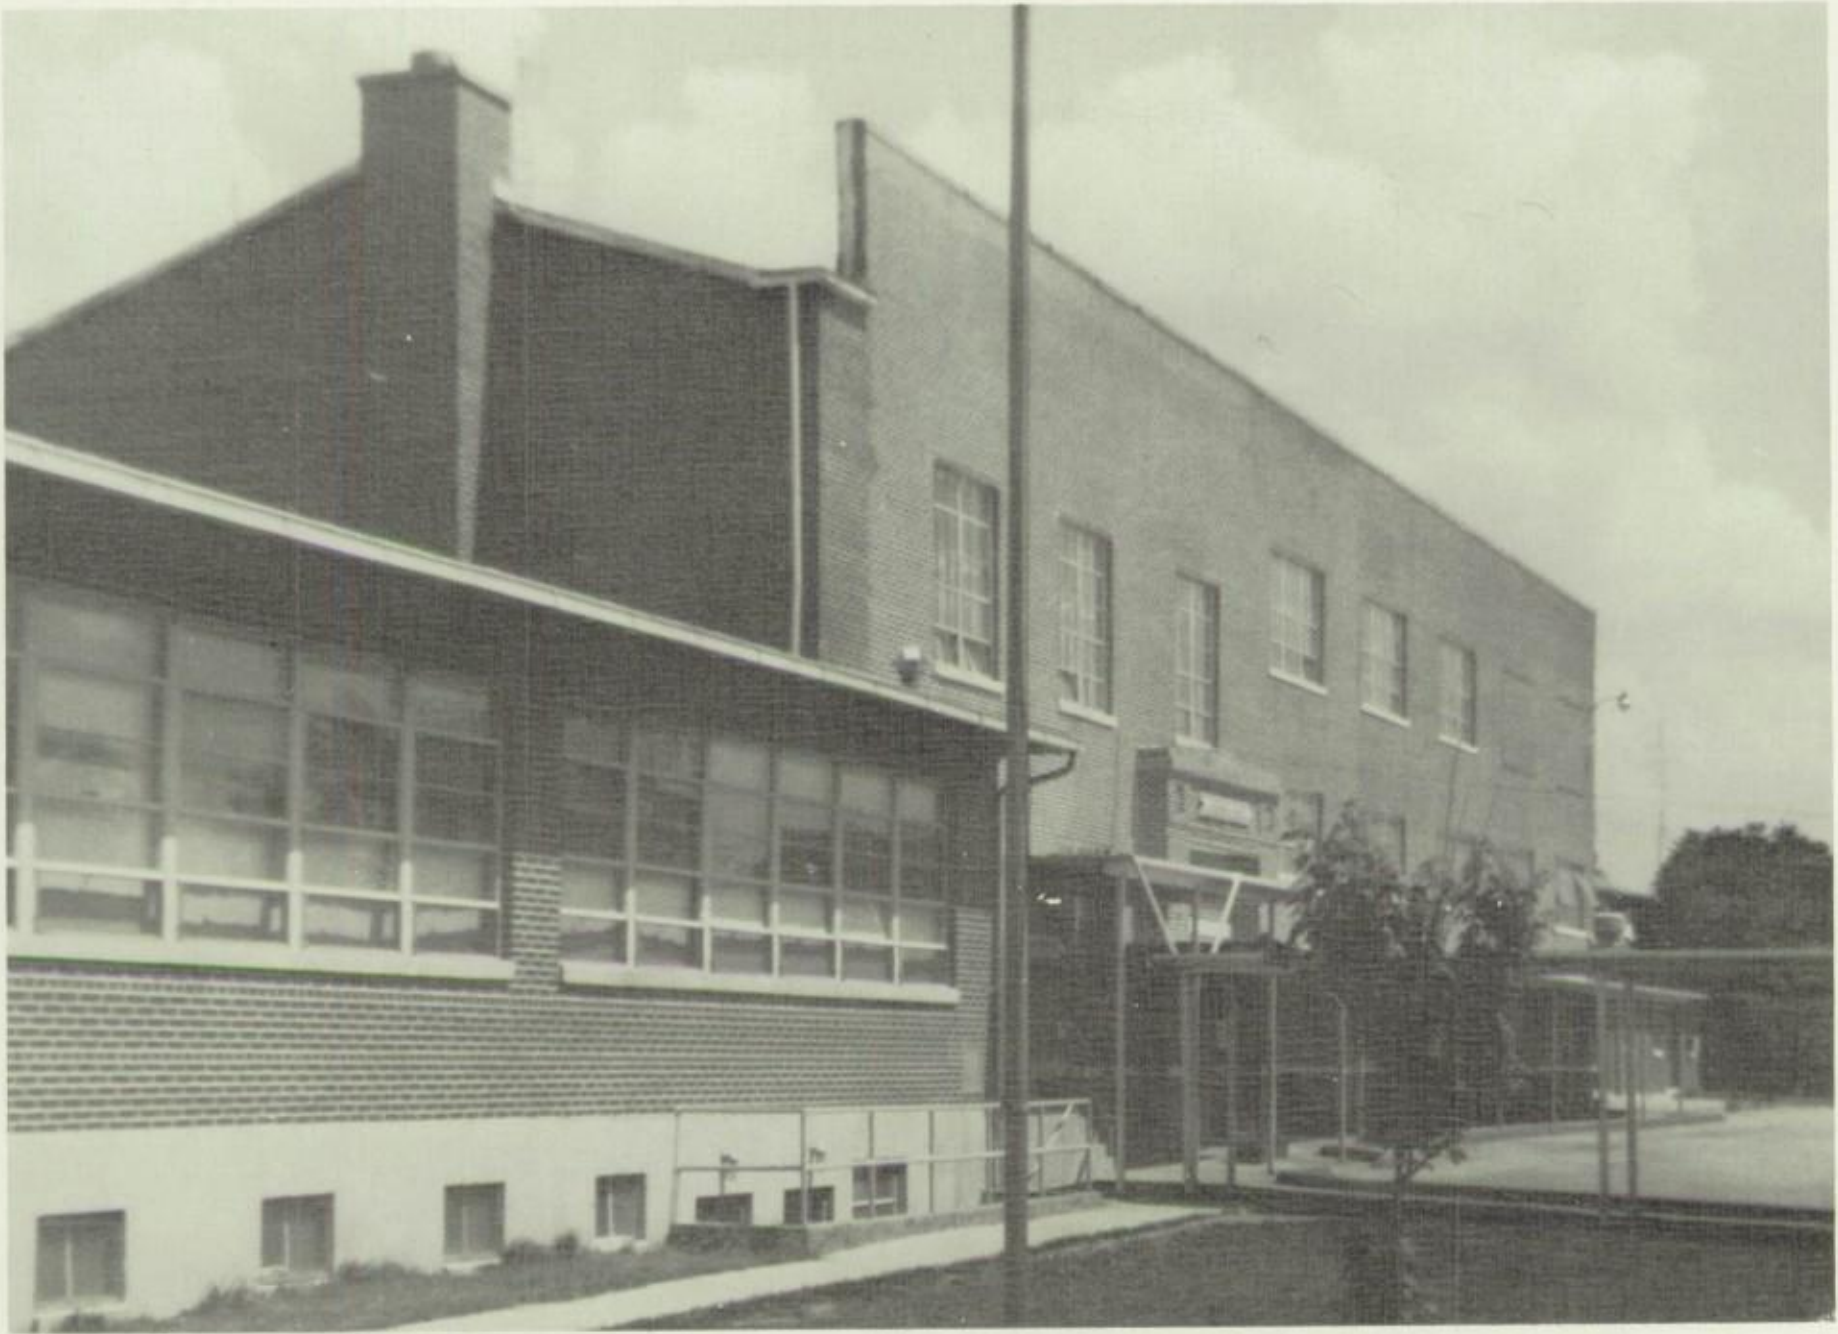

Frederick Fraize

In 1870, school in Cloverport was being held in an upstairs room in the downtown area. As a result, the children had to play in the streets and on the sidewalks. The citizens of the town decided that the location was unsuitable for adequate education. Thus, a new building was proposed, approved, and constructed out of bricks burned at the site. The year, 1872, marked the beginning of the "school on the hill."

One hundred years have passed since Professor W. B. Hayward took charge as principal of that new Cloverport Public School. The times and tides have moved by it like the ever-flowing Ohio that steadily passes the town. Many persons great in their own way have walked these halls as students, teachers, and administrators. The buildings have been added to; the size has grown; numbers have increased; even the name of the school has seen changes. And certainly the changes will not stop now. We stand at this one hundredth anniversary of the "school on the hill" with a reverence for the past and a hope for the future.

In some ways we have less than the past. Schoolwide activities and organizations do not draw student involvement as they did only a few years before. But we have made up for that with a more than adequate educational program that covers an amazing range of possibilities.

In this yearbook we will present a very brief glance at where we have been, where we are in our activities and changes, and where we are going - the hope of tomorrow as seen in our students. We invite you to see the changes that have taken place in "100 Years on the Hill."

William H. Natcher

The main changes in the students have been hair styles and clothes. Many organizations have come and gone; others have lasted through the years, only to reach a low level of activity in the 1970's. Journalism had early beginnings with the production of an annual as early as 1914 and probably before. By the 20's there was no annual being published. In 1949 the senior class revived the practice and published the Cloverleaf. It continued, although as a paperback in the mid-50's.

First Grade - 1914

Sports and exercise have always been an important part of life in Cloverport's schools. In the early part of the 20th century, the school could boast of a sports program for boys and girls. But gradually things began to change. Through a variety of reasons, girls' athletics declined and would-be competitors were left with the choice of becoming spectators or cheerleaders. Male athletics began to dominate the scene and continued to until this year.

Cloverport has always worked hard and has often been successful in competitive sports, especially basketball. Playing in a gym that was constructed around 1929, they held their own against other teams. The 1929 squad was commonly known as the "Fabulous Five." They took the regional and went to the state that year. The next big surge was in 1944 when the Royal Aces won their district. This was not to happen again for 29 years.

The fifties saw some big wins and good seasons. In 1951-52, the team compiled a 20-7 record. In 1957, they defeated Hardinsburg in an over-time thriller - the last win over that team until this year.

The sixties were years in which boys and coaches tried their best but fell short. The school was handicapped by being one of the few remaining small schools in the face of consolidation. Thus, much of the work in the sixties resulted only in laying the foundation for the highly efficient and successful teams of 1971-72 and 1972-73.

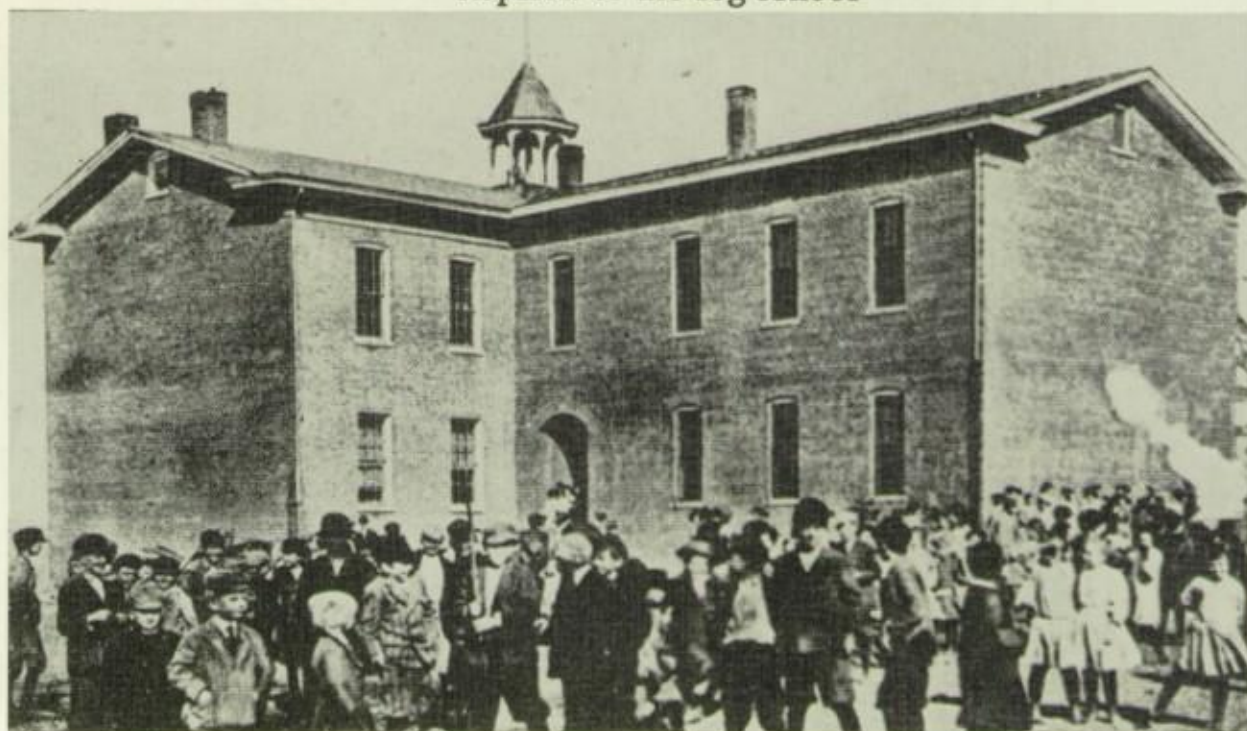

When the old log house school was used, all the students occupied the same room for classes. After construction of the new building, much more room was available, and classes were separated.

The school was known as Cloverport Public Schools until 1934 when, through her will, Cornelia W. Fraize initiated a $130,000 endowment to the school in honor of her son, Frederick. Part of the endowment, which was intended for vocational training, called for the school to be named in his honor. The name of Frederick Fraize was also applied to the elementary school until 1972 when it was renamed for William H. Natcher.

The industrial arts department for boys ceased to function in 1968, but the home economics class has continued. This year it expanded to include a class in home economics for boys.

Chorus

This year has been a good year for the arts. Under the leadership of Mr. Don Taylor, music at Cloverport has begun to take on a different meaning. The mixed chorus of last year has been complemented by a band, which although still in its infancy stage, shows great promise. Classes have been added to the schedule to cover a large range of musical concerns.

New Faces Fill Vacancies

Eight persons have been hired to fill vacancies created in the Cloverport School System. Vacancies were brought about by the loss of the Voluntary Teacher Corps members, the resignation of certain regular teachers, and the initiation of some new programs.

The Board of Education has acted to fill these vacancies by hiring eight of the more than thirty applicants. These eight are Mrs. Modella Mattingly, Mrs. Bettye Jean Embry, Miss Zandra Lyons, Mrs. Mary E. Kidder, Mrs. Mary Barnes, Mr. Thomas Moorman, Mr. Mike Gray, and Mr. Don Taylor.

Mrs. Modella Mattingly of Cloverport is a graduate of Western Kentucky University where she received her Bachelor of Arts Degree. While at Western, she majored in Elementary Education. Mrs. Mattingly is married and is the mother of two boys. Her favorite hobbies are her children, boating, camping, and sewing. She teaches the first grade.

Another Cloverport native, Mrs. Bettye Jean Embry, has been employed to teach the third grade. She is a graduate of Brescia College in Owensboro. While there she majored in Elementary Education, and received her Bachelor of Science Degree. She plans to stay in Cloverport after the completion of her first year of teaching.

Miss Zandra Lyons, formerly of Custer is a graduate of Campbellsville College. She majored in Elementary Education, and received her Bachelor of Science Degree. She plans to stay in Cloverport after her first year of teaching.

Mrs. Mary E. Barnes, formally Mary Jacobs, a graduate of Murray State University, is from Clarkson, Kentucky. While at Murray, she received a Bachelor of Arts Degree. She now lives in Cloverport where she teaches English in the high school.

Mrs. Mary E. Kidder, who formally taught in Louisiana, and recently in Jefferson Co., is a graduate of Spalding College in Louisville and the University of Louisville. At Spalding College she received her Bachelor of Science Degree, and at the University of Louisville her Masters Degree. She majored in Elementary Education with Psychology as a minor. She makes her home in Cloverport, and enjoys cooking, photography, and reading. She teaches the Developmental Class.

Mr. Thomas Moorman, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, is from Glen Dean, Ky. At the University he majored in Agricultural Economics, and received his Bachelor of Science Degree. He is married, and lives in Hardinsburg, Ky. His interest are sports and farming. He teaches science in junior and senior high schools.

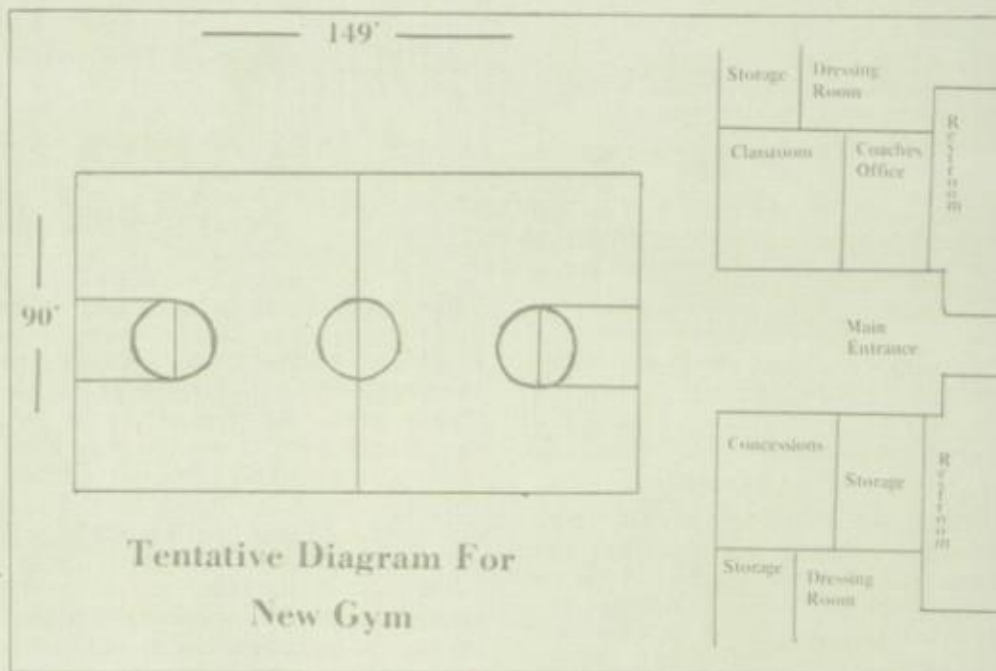

Mr. Mike Gray is a graduate of Brescia College, where he majored in Accounting and General Business. While going to Brescia, he received his Bachelor of Science Degree. Mr. Gray from Owensboro, Ky., plays the piano and accordian. He also likes to water ski. His plans are to stay here and teach math in the high school.

Mr. Don Taylor, of Indiana, is a graduate of College, where he major received his Bachelor of He and his wife now live where he teaches music employed as music at Cloverport Baptist Church. His interests are sports, and activities.

City Council has authorized surveys to be made of the Cloverport shopyards which are located near the ballpark. After the completion of these surveys, grants will then be applied for in order to provide the funds for two all weather tennis courts. The courts will be lighted so they can be used at night.

In other action, Cloverport City Council and Water Board met with Hardinsburg City Council and Water Board, Monday night Sept. 18. This meeting pertained to Hardinsburg wanting Cloverport to furnish them with water, due to their water shortage. Mayor A. O. Johnson told the group the City of Cloverport could sell treated water to the City of Hardinsburg, delivered to the Hardinsburg city limits for $1.25 per 1,000 gallons. Johnson said this figure was based on a 40-year amortization plan, financed by revenue bonds. Plans called for a 12-inch water main from Cloverport to Hardinsburg, estimated to cost $983,000; $219,000 for a new treatment plant; pumping station and elevated storage tank.

Realizing there was some federal money available, Mr. Bennett quickly capitalized on the opportunity and acquired some of this for our area. However, he also stated that this will not take place or be open for use until about 1974. With a feeling that the old gym would be the perfect place to put it the board discussed tentative plans for the pools construction.

Building the pool in the gym will save money because the gym structure will provide the base that is needed. The stage will be used for the diving boards. The dressing rooms in the gym will be used for the dressing area for the pool. Use of the pool will be included in the school's Physical Education Program.

After school, different age groups will be allowed to use the pool. There will be afternoons when only parents or other adults will be permitted the use of facilities and afternoons that will be preserved for teenagers. Life guards will be provided during all of these activities.

Also to help pay for the cost of the water used, there will probably be a set price in Top runners for Cloverport in their divisions were Kenny Wheatley, Eddie Atwell, Patty Atwood, and Cathy Blair.

In this, the first year of Breckinridge County track competition, Cloverport proved its readiness. The four teams: fifth and sixth grade boys and girls and seventh and eighth grade boys and girls, topped all other squads to take the overall championship. In addition, the fifth and sixth grade boys and the seventh and eighth grade girls won their respective divisions. Cathy Blair dominated the younger girls and won individual honors.

In October, the women and men of the faculty and staff met their first serious challenge - on the basketball courts. The money-raising games were arranged between the teachers and students of the high school. In a hard fought game, which saw more traveling than many airlines handle in a month, the high school girls emerged victorious. The exhausted women were fortunate to emerge at all. But the students had the tables turned when the men of the staff combined talents to down the boys. The victors' joy, however, was quickly lost in the agony of their aching bodies.

On October 18 the PTA held one of its most successful carnivals ever. Receipts from the customary booths and chili supper were increased by a raffle and a school-wide contest for elementary and high school King and Queen of the Carnival. Nearly $1200 was raised by the activities.

Topping the other candidates from the classes were fourth graders Kaylen Hook and Jody Simmons and Juniors Sandra Conder and Terry Perkins. Other festivities included the traditional costume judging. Students came in a great variety of costumes, ranging from the supernatural to hobos to changes in race and sex.

This year the name of the Frederick Fraize Elementary School was changed to the William H. Natcher Elementary School, in honor of our representative from the Second Congressional District. The official pronouncement came on December 14 in a special ceremony at the school. The changing of the name and the ceremony were to recognize the outstanding contributions of service made by Congressman Natcher to the schools of the Cloverport Independent School District.

Aces Finish Season 27-5

The 1972-73 season proved to be the most successful in Cloverport's history. The varsity team repeatedly set records for the school and led both the 11th District and the 3rd Region in several categories. They set a new school record with 27 regular season wins and only 5 losses. They led the district and region in defense, achieved the best won-lost record, and amassed the greatest number of wins, in which category they also ranked second in the state.

The team's journey toward the District Tournament was highlighted by the two important victories over rival Hancock County and a Salt River Valley Conference Tournament title en route to the conference championship. The Aces concluded the season with both a perfect record against conference opponents and a perfect record on the home court.

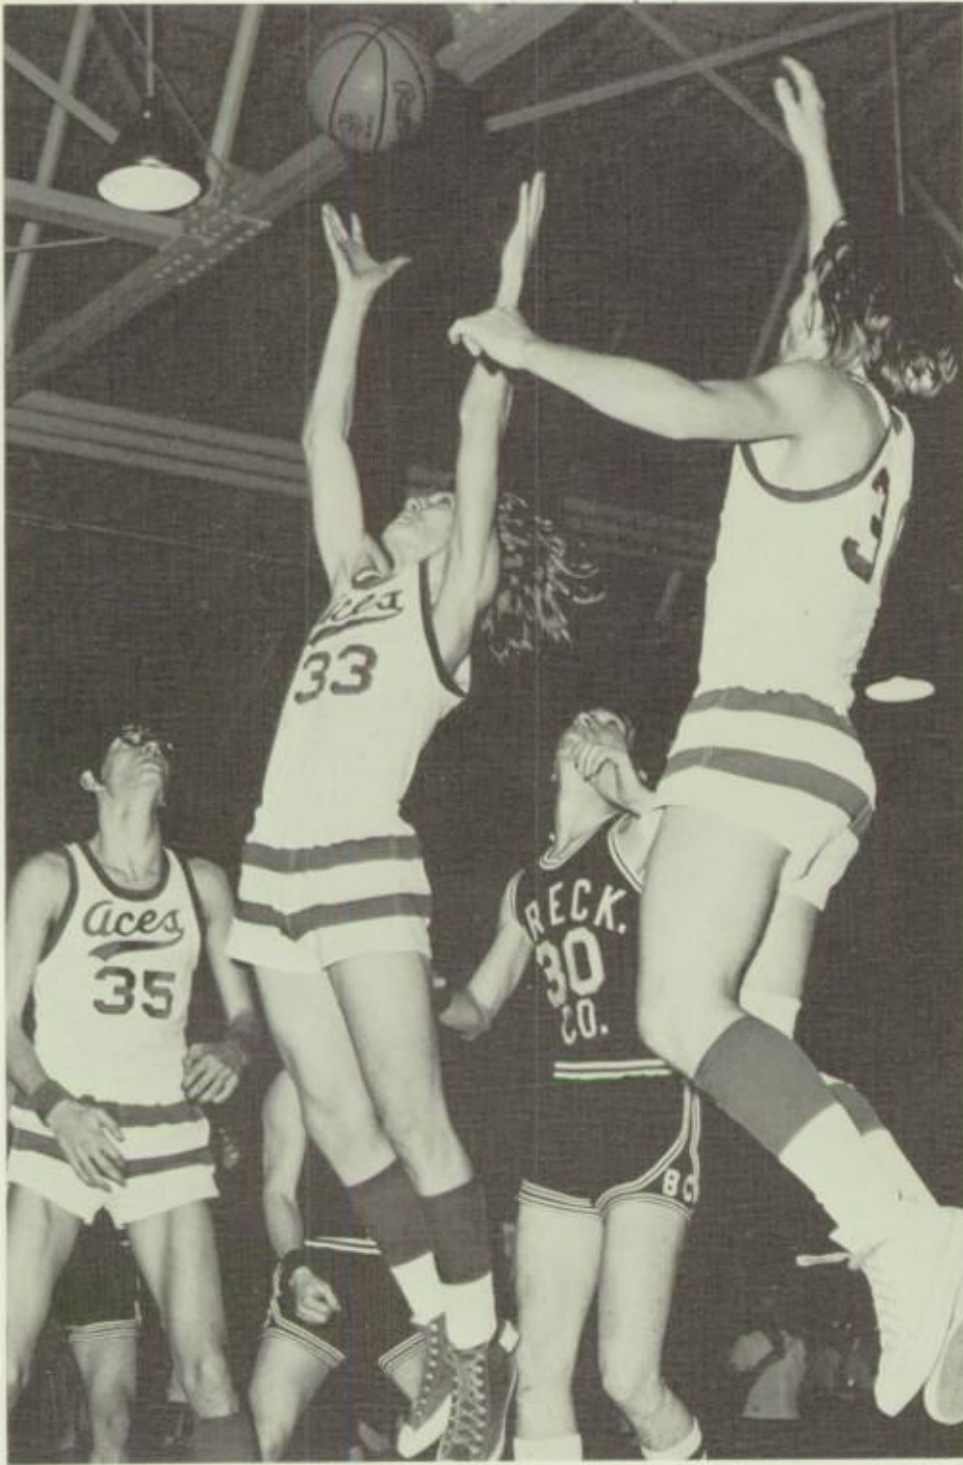

Aces Win 11th District

The Aces topped off their most successful season in a most appropriate way. They fought their way through two games to gain the crown as champions of the 11th District. The first round saw Cloverport on the sidelines with a bye. The next night they battled the hot Rebels of St. Romuald to gain a come-from-behind victory, 59 to 47. This set the stage for the biggest game of the season. Squaring off against us were the Tigers of Breckinridge

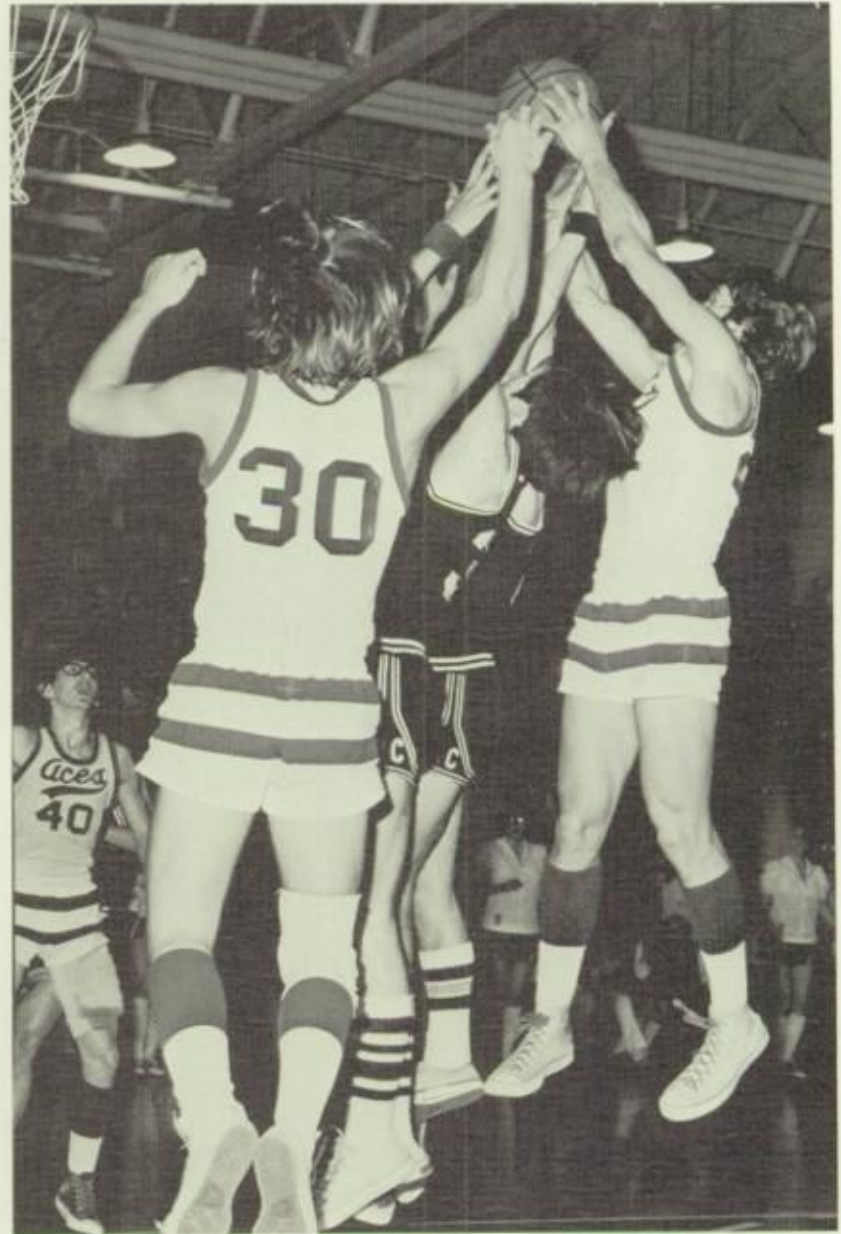

County, the victors in an earlier meeting. But the Aces turned the tables on the Tigers and took the contest by a score of 66 to 60. And for the first time in 29 years, the Aces were District Champions. The celebrations which followed were town-wide.

With well wishes and past victories to inspire them, the boys prepared to face the Aces of Owensboro Catholic in the first round of the 3rd Region Tournament. The taller Owensboro team triumphed, 75-62, to end the Cloverport season at 29 wins and 6 defeats.

The game

LEAGUE TROPHY STAYS HOME

For the second year in a row, the young Aces topped all competitors in the Breckinridge Elementary School League and brought home the big trophy for first place. But to do it they had to put up a real fight.

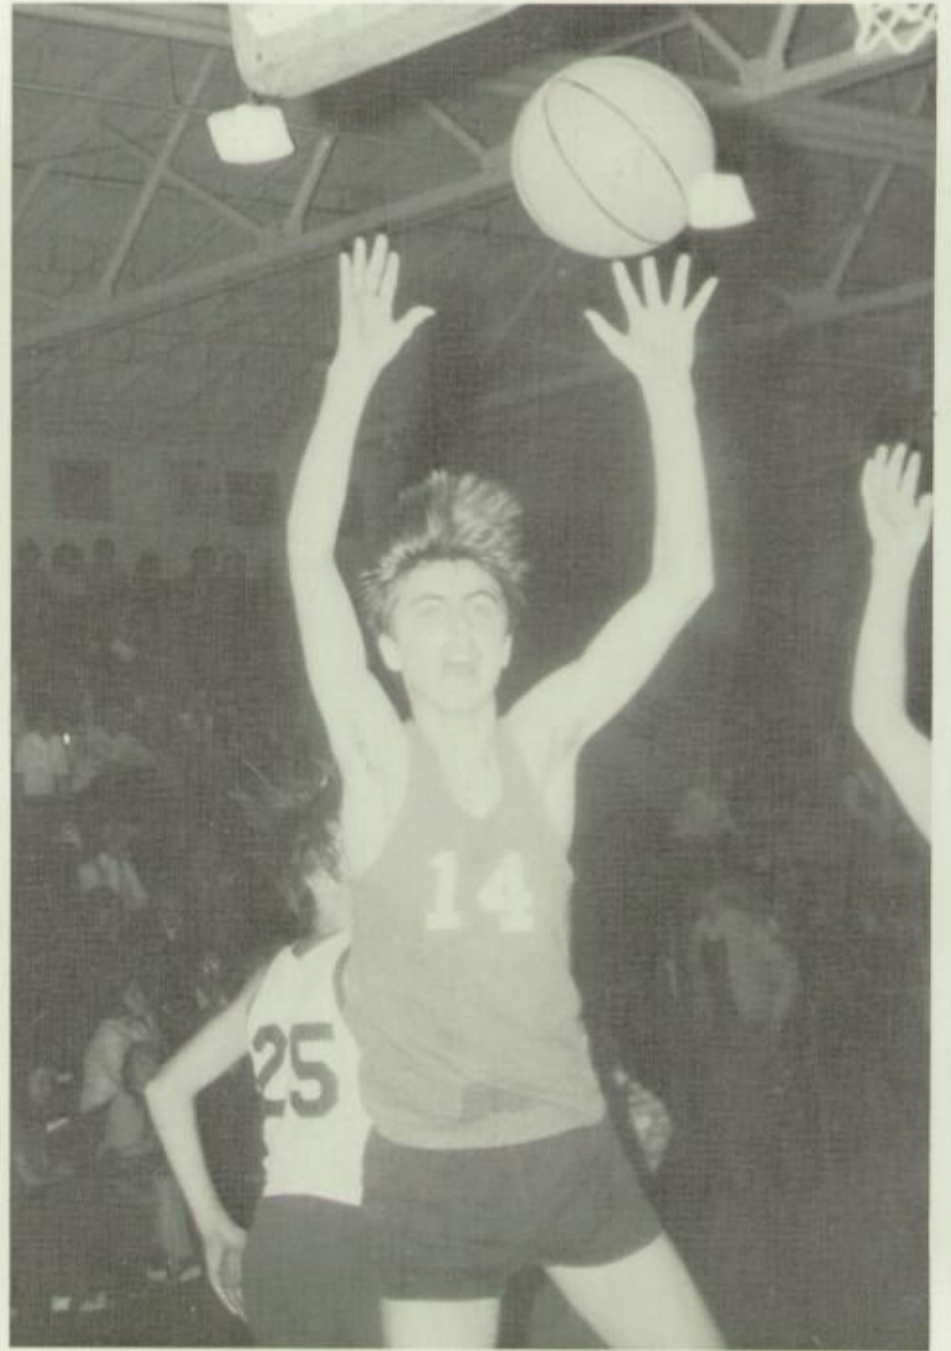

It was generally talked around at the early stages that Cloverport would not be strong this year. The teams to beat would be Irvington and Hardinsburg. To that extent forecasters were right. The race for first place did include both favorites. But beating them was Cloverport.

The team overcame many handicaps and problems, such as slow starting, individualism, and careless ball handling, to emerge with 27 wins and only 2 losses. One loss was to ever strong Hancock County and the other to league rival Irvington. 27-2 set a new school record for the most wins in one season.

The "B" team raised hopes for years to come by posting a 13-2 record for the season.

Jr Hi Takes League Tournament

Overcoming slow starts in the first two games, the Junior High Aces finished the County League Tourney as Champs with a win over the Bearcats of Hardinsburg, 38-33. In doing this they also captured the League Championship.

The first game saw a sluggish and careless Aces squad trail the underdog Milner five at the half. But the Aces improved to pull out a 38-31 victory. The second game was much the same as a strong Irvington team fell in the second half to a stronger Cloverport team, 57-39.

The final game was close and not decided until the final minutes. Cloverport held off a late Bearcat drive to finish as Champions for the second year straight.

This was a year of growth and creation for the art classes under the direction of instructor Barbara Blee. Outstanding work in many areas was achieved by several students. A highlight for the year was the ceramic work of Steve Reid. Using the new potter's wheel and kiln, he produced ceramic bowls of high quality. Others have contributed to the beauty of the school and the excellence of cultural growth by dedicated and creative expression through art in its many forms.

In the spring, the work of the journalism class took on added dimensions. This year they had already set new precedents by publishing a school-community newspaper, Hilltopper. For that they received commendations from various sources: Western Kentucky University, the State Department of Education, and various offices in the Department of Education in Washington, D.C. In the spring, in addition to meeting annual deadlines, they began a weekly series of radio-television broadcasts of school news. The video tapes were used within the school while the audio tapes were aired over radio stations WHIC, WKCM, and WTCJ - all in neighboring communities.

Clowerport Boosters

On April 6th, the Clowerport Athletic Boosters Club sponsored the annual Basketball Appreciation Dinner for the Varsity basketball players in the school cafeteria. The night bore a special air since these athletes had brought so much glory to the school and the town. Coaches Ed Belcher and Damon Akridge were awarded memberships into the order of Honorary Kentucky Colonels, an honor also bestowed upon the senior members and starters on the squad.

Trophies were presented for outstanding effort as follows: Most Valuable Player for the Junior Varsity - Kenny McCoy; Most Improved Player - David Buchele; Player Contributing 110% Effort - Mitchell Butler; Best Freethrow Percentage - Gary Bruner; Top Rebounder - Frank Sturgeon; Best Field Goal Percentage - Donnie Basham; Outstanding Defensive Effort - Steve Reid; Most Assists - Ricky Embry; and Scholastic Award - Donnie Basham. Voted the Most Valuable Player for the 1972-73 season was Frank Sturgeon.

New And Improved Programs

One of the new programs was the Developmental Training Unit, headed by Mary E. Kidder. She and her staff were therapists to approximately forty children who were experiencing some form of learning difficulty. A second program was Head Start in which Maxine McManaway and Medora Withers each supervised a class of pre-schoolers in a program of educational preparation. Much of the training dealt with readiness for learning and social adjustment.

A third program, begun last year, expanded this year. Television equipment grew to three cameras, two video recorders, and two closed circuit channels. Janet Pardue and James Corley served as the technicians. They also had the responsibility for the fourth program - an audio retrievable system. Here prepared tapes could be called for over a special telephone and piped directly to the waiting students.

Clowerport Initiates Girls' Track

Success in the fall in the girl's division of cross country spurred the school to begin regular track and field competition involving girls from grades 7 through 12. Coached by Rebecca Macy, the girls got off to a late start because so many were involved in the basketball season. Thus, other teams were far ahead in terms of training.

The girls worked hard to make up time and did succeed in showing great improvement. The early meets provided more experience than anything as other teams rolled over the local girls with ease. But lack of familiarity with track events and methods can only be overcome by that means. It certainly was not wasted effort.

Although the team, led by stand-outs Lu Anne White and Leasa Roane, showed consistent improvement, only two girls competed in the Regional Meet. Leasa and Becky Coogle tried against the best in the region, but came up short.

Four Bring Boys' Track To School

With track in full swing, four boys from the high school chose to compete in a meet at Daviess County. They trained themselves and competed under great handicaps. Though they all did well for themselves, only one was successful against others: Frank Sturgeon. He won second in the long jump and fifth in the 100 yard dash. Frank also went to the Regional Meet in late May and won 3 out of 4 events that he entered: long jump, 100 and 220 yard dashes. Going to the State Meet, he finished a heartbreak behind the medal winners. He placed fifth in both the long jump and 100 yard dash. All this for a school that does not even have a track or track coach.

Frank is holding the five medals that he won in competition this year. In his right hand are the three medals for first place from the Regional Meet in Glasgow. In his left hand are the two medals for second and fifth places from the Daviess County Invitational.

Instead of a prom and a banquet this year, the junior class treated the seniors to a day-long outing at Kings Island at Cincinnati. Leaving at 5:00 a.m., they traveled by bus to the famed amusement park. After a full day of train rides, sight-seeing, and Skylift riding, they boarded the bus for the long journey home. It was a tired group that arrived home at 10:30 that night.

Once Over
Lightly . . .

I could have sworn I heard something about a swimming pool in here.

The garbage lady strikes again.

OOPS! Ohhh!

Well, who are we having for lunch today?

Now Donnie, the theory behind his move involves an analysis of the contributing factors of . . .

Poor thing, heartbroken over not being chosen Miss Cloverport.

WHAT! Me proud? HA!

Beauty may be in the eye of the beholder but this is ridiculous.

That James Corley has just got to stop showing those sex education tapes to the Head Start classes. That simply is not what Head Start means.
